

Artificial Intelligence for Society and Ethics

Assignment 1- A Day in your life in 2050!

---

Early in the day, the first thing that is bound to happen is my smart alarm to ring off and my curtains open on their own at the detection of sunlight, right after that my robotic assistant will tend to my daily chores, and then my robotic assistant would bring me coffee from a smart coffee making machine and remind me what tasks I have to do today. The breakfast will be made by another AI robot responsible for my food and another for my clothes. When I look out my automated window I will see how drastically the world has changed, with cars and drones flying around and assistant robots walking alongside their owners. After that, I go to my YouTube Studio to work, where when I put on my headsets and Oculus it was like the characters in my video games came to life and were with me in real-time. The recording of my video games would start as soon as I command it to and will end the same way and then the editing of my games will be done by an auto video editing AI. After that, my day would just go about with a walk outside in a park and I would see people with a robotic dog and I would see robotic birds flying in the sky as well. During the night time when it's time for my dinner, I command my self-driving car to take me to my favorite restaurant and there I order my favorite meal by just clicking the food time on the menu. At last, I would come home and drift to sleep with my robotic assistant playing my favorite tunes.

---

References:

The World in 2050